

NEW BUSINESS

Streetwise Site

Graduates from the Arts Institute at Bournemouth who set up their own company 'Stilton Studios' have been working in collaboration with colleges in the Dorset, Somerset & Wiltshire area to develop and create a website, designed to help 11 to 16 year old young people learn more about the college and university life experience. Entitled 'Streetwise Guide to your Future', it accompanies a series of educational tools such as a CD-Rom and a video, produced within the same collaboration.

It is designed to promote colleges in the South and create awareness of what is on offer to young people after they leave school.

The website is not only useful for young people but also for careers advisors and parents who will find the website a valuable resource.
